The Value of Time.

"How soon hath Time, that
Suble thief of youth,
Stolen my three and twenty years."

When John Milton wrote his famous sonnet on his twenty third birthday and so personified Time he was wisely figurative. There is no more subtle thief than Time and we can be robbed of no greater treasure than years and youth, yet few men realize it. Our days are numbered and uncertain, yet we waste the better part of our lives and learn to be parsimonious when it is all too late. Man may be likened to a shooting star which blazes across the firmament for an instant or more and then is gone.

No longer and no less certain is his stay on earth, yet he acts with the assurance of an immortal, the omnipotence of a God and the weakness of a fool. Only at the grave does he show humility. Only at death does he shrink. Then life becomes dear and an hour before eternity. The endless abyss of eternity is most ferocious.

Perhaps the fault lies with our training. We are taught to think too lightly upon minutes, hours and days. The span of life which we reckon long is really short. The fault does lie with our training.

Youth has been regarded as time to waste. Old age was thought to be the time for rest. The only time in man's life that has been fixed at a real value has been the years from thirty to fifty or sixty. The result of this training has been disastrous, for there has come to be a change in the active business world of late. There has been a shifting of Time values. There is a growing demand for youth. Wisdom is being vested in the twenties instead of gray hairs, so they who have been unwisely tutored and have wasted their youth in the certainty that their old age would give them prestige are now mere parasites.

Those who have flung their twenties to the winds and danced to jolly now find the best part of their lives gone, so far as commercial value goes, and what days remain to them are but hours and moments of repentant retrospection.

From these remnants of foolish wisdom present day youth must learn its lesson.

THERE is trouble now on with the Sheep Butchers Union. Bah!

TABLE TALK OVER THE COFFEE.

The talk that evening began with the fact of the "Vegetarians" and their beliefs. It soon developed that the beautiful Miss Schuyler thought herself a "Vegetarian." "But," said Dr. Smith, "what do you eat?" "All kinds of vegetables and fruit," said she, "then I drink milk, have eggs for breakfast, besides at other meals: eat butter, pudding, cheese and cake, and tell every one they ought to do as I do, I feel so much better." The doctor looked astonished. "And you call that vegetarian? My dear young woman don't you know that butter, eggs and milk are animal foods? Then, too, it is a mistake to urge others to follow you. What is good for you may not be good for others. The Eskimo of the Arctic regions could not support life on a vegetable diet. Some animal food is necessary to keep heat in his body. On the other hand, besides the individual peculiarities and the climate, the conditions under which each person lives, would make it a mistake for you to recommend to everybody to follow your example." "At the same time," continued the doctor, "I have come to the conclusion that fully one-half of the chronic complaints which embitter life are due to stomach disorders which could just as well be avoided." "Now, Dr. Smith," interrupted Miss Schuyler, "I know you're going to tell us all just what to do and that when our stomachs begin to trouble us and we have dyspepsia or what not, we are all to march in line, one after the other, into your office and have our stomachs pumped out. No thank you, I tried that when I had dyspepsia, heart palpitations and dizzy spells so bad I thought I'd go mad, and then when I struck the pump treatment I thought I'd go madder! But fortunately just about that time I saw something in the paper which made me stop and think. I said, if hundreds of others can be cured by such simple treatment as taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery three times a day, I think I'll try. I did try, and in two months I was sound and well again—without those horrid stomach pumps, and then best of all, I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., and asked his advice in my case, and he told me how to care for myself, how to exercise, diet, etc., and that didn't cost me a cent. Then I bought his book, the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser,' and now I know just exactly how to live to be a hundred in the shade."

A Scorchers.

The days the past week have been veritable scorchers, being the warmest spell experienced in this valley in September for as far back as the oldest settler can remember. Take for instance last Tuesday. With doors and windows wide open and the office floor thoroughly wet down the thermometer, in the coolest part of our office registered from 102 to 106 degrees in the shade almost the entire afternoon. Still some people claim there is no such place as home.

The Grape Crop

The grape crop in the Sonoma Valley will be very heavy this season and will equal that of last year in quality also. The warm weather is having an excellent effect on the wine grapes, and there have been somewhat behind on account of the cool weather in August. It is said that notwithstanding the quality of wine grapes they will not command as high price as last season.

San Francisco, August 6, 1904.

"I can't dispute your statement, for it is undoubtedly true," said the doctor. "I have seen many cases in my practice of dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach cured by that 'Discovery' of Dr. Pierce. It seems to assist in the digestion and assimilation of the food in the stomach, and not only that but it builds up the general health by enriching the blood and stimulating the liver into healthy action. Nervous feelings of despondency and the blues are done away with because the liver is fed on rich pure blood and they no longer cry out for their proper food. No man or woman can be strong or feel happy who is suffering from indigestion, because when the stomach is diseased there is a diminution of the red corpuscles of the blood—this is why one don't sleep well, is languid, nervous and irritable."

Words cannot express what I suffered for three years from the effects of a torpid liver," writes Jas. E. Hawkins, Esq., President Order of Golden Circle, No. 41, of America, Box 107, St. Louis, Mo. "I had I but known of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' sooner what misery I might have been spared. I was bilious, tongue was coated, appetite poor, and I had frequent distressing pains in the side and under shoulder-blades, but within a week after I commenced Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery there was a marked change for the better, so I kept on using it, three times a day, for over a month, with an occasional dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets to regulate the bowels, and the results were all more than I could wish. My appetite is splendid—I feel ten years younger, and am entirely free from pain of any kind. Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' is certainly all that its name implies, and I gratefully endorse it."

Mrs. Alice Evers, of Creedville, Ohio, says: "Sometime ago I wrote you in regard to my case, asking your advice, also that I needed in the medicine line. The advice came promptly and after following your directions I find myself entirely relieved of any distressing symptoms of my old troubles, and feel I am entirely cured. I had liver complaint and indigestion of the bowels. Took eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, also three vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Your remedies have proven very satisfactory in my case, and I am delighted to be my old self once more. I thank you for your good and valuable advice, which was so promptly given. My husband is taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and also feels that it is doing him good. One thing we are very positive of, is that it will give a wholesome appetite when all else fails."

Mr. McLachlan's visit in regard to the improvements of rivers and creeks in California will be absolutely necessary to secure an appropriation for the improvement of Sonoma creek, so it is up to the people of Sonoma valley to show by their presence at this meeting their unanimous desire to have the creek improved.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. WHITE.

Expires Instantly at the Home of Her Daughter on Broadway.

Mrs. Elizabeth White, mother of Mrs. Samuel Lewis, died very suddenly from heart disease at the home of her daughter, on Broadway in this place, at 8 o'clock Sunday evening.

The deceased had been ailing for some time with a very weak heart and death came just as was anticipated by the attending physician. Mrs. White was a native of Greenborough, Miss., and was 60 years of age.

The funeral took place from the Lewis residence, Wednesday afternoon, the remains being interred in Valley Cemetery.

Woman's Club Has a Big Meeting

The Sonoma Valley Woman's Club met Saturday afternoon last and the attendance was the largest in the history of the organization. Mrs. Robt. P. Hill presided. A resolution was passed that the birthday of the club would be celebrated on the 21st of September with a reception to be held in the evening at the club rooms. It was also decided to observe Reciprocity Day on the third Saturday of October, when the clubs of Petaluma, Napa and Calistoga will be invited over and entertained. Mrs. A. E. Osborne and Mrs. Geo. Low Smith were also to be asked to be present. The different sections of the club reported, including the new Shakespearean section, which meets every Friday night at the F. T. Duhring home. "The Merchant of Venice" being discussed at present by the following ladies and gentlemen of the Shakespeare section: Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. and Mrs. Solon, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Duhring, Ernest Clewe, Miss Doris Clewe, Mrs. Weems, Miss Kari McDowell, Miss Humphreys, Miss Cook, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Stearns and the Misses Frazer.

Sims-Bundschu Wedding

Last night at the Bundschu home in San Francisco Miss Louise Bundschu became the bride of Richard Maury Sims. The wedding was solemnized by Rev. Dr. Leavitt, pastor of the First Unitarian church, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bundschu, one of San Francisco's most prominent families. She is a girl of charming personality and a lover of athletics. Mr. Sims is a prominent attorney of the metropolis and comes from a fine southern family. Mr. Sims and his bride are both well known here. Vine child Rhinefarm is the Sonoma Valley home of the Bundschus.

Fire Alarm Saturday

An alarm of fire Saturday afternoon created wild excitement for a few minutes. When the cause of the alarm, however, became known the excitement abated. The alarm was rung in for a grass fire on the Victor Jensen place on Second street West, which communicated to some fencing and for a time threatened the house and barn. Both were saved, however, by the timely arrival of the volunteer fire fighters, who succeeded in confining the fire to the grass and fencing. The loss was trifling.

The clergyman of the Lutheran church at Santa Rosa administered the sacrament of holy baptism to two of the Hertzog children at their home in this place one day this week.

The following Glen Ellen people attended the funeral of Mrs. White in Sonoma last Wednesday: Rev. and Mrs. Cherrington, Miss Justi, Mr. and Mrs. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zane, Miss Lucy Zane and Miss Emily Kurtz.

Who could sing "In the good old summer time" with the thermometer registering 109 degrees in the shade, your back yard all afire with the bees humming the flumes to keep the honey from melting; the roosters crowing and hens cackling to keep the eggs from roasting and house from burning; the horse neighing and mule kicking? Such was the case at the otherwise quiet and peaceful home of the Gordenkers last Wednesday while the family was at its midday meal. As good luck would have it the men folks were at home and soon extinguished the fire, which threatened to do much damage. It is not known what caused the fire, but it is supposed that some stray matches ignited by the intense heat of the sun's rays was the origin.

Was in the Steamer Collision

Frank Quartaroli, who has been up north for some time, was a passenger on the steamer Pomona en route to San Francisco when that vessel collided with another in the fog off Point Reyes last Monday. Mr. Quartaroli says there was a wild panic when the boats came together. The collision happened at one o'clock in the morning when all the passengers were sound asleep. Mr. Quartaroli says he rushed out on deck in his night clothes and thinking the Pomona was sinking he climbed a mast. Women and children were terror-stricken and rushed hither and thither, screaming dreadfully. It was some time before they could be assured that there was no danger.

FIRST MEETING OF THE CAMPAIGN

Theodore Bell, Democratic Nominee for Congress,
Principal Speaker

The political campaign was opened in this place Saturday evening by Congressman Theodore Bell, nominee of the Democratic party for re-election to Congress.

The meeting was arranged by County Committeeman Joe R. Small, and presided over by Fred Duhring. The Sonoma brass band, consisting of a dozen instruments, a bass and a hand-somely decorated hall were the principal features of the meeting.

The speaker of the evening was Congressman Theodore Bell, who has a fine presence and a forcible delivery, but for some reason or another he was not at his best and the meeting was lacking in the enthusiasm of the first meeting held in the same hall during the Congressional campaign of two years ago.

The fact of the matter is there were too many Republicans present at the meeting, who although personal admirers of the Congressman, appeared to be content at the outset of the campaign, with the nominee of their party, Hon. Duncan McKinlay of Santa Rosa, to accord him the reception of two years ago when Mr. Combs of Napa was his competitor, for whom thousands of Republicans in the second district failed to vote.

Chas. O. Dunbar, the Democratic nominee for re-election to the Assembly, was well received and it was plain to be seen that he has all the Democrats with him and not a few Republicans. There is political missionary work down this way for Mr. Tripp, the Republican nominee, and the sooner he gets in his work the better it will be for him, for Charley is a fascinating campaigner and a foxy vote getter.

Supervisor Blair Hart, the Democratic candidate for re-election to the office of Supervisor of the First district, was received with enthusiasm and his admirers and supporters appeared to be confident to no political party and his welcome, which was a generous one, presaged a large vote for him in his district and his smiling, affable and big opinion, Harry Weise, must not be left in and do some lively hustling between now and the day of election to get there.

The meeting, considering that Sonoma is one of the Republican precincts of the county, for the head of the ticket, although a little off in the support of its county nominees, at times, was a success socially as well as politically.

Overcome by the Heat

A guest at the Buena Vista Castle named Hound was a victim of sunstroke on Thursday, owing to the dreadful hot weather which has prevailed the past week. So serious was the stroke that the services of Dr. Thomson had to be enlisted. The man is now out of danger. This is the first case of sunstroke ever reported in this valley.

Sonoma Knights on Parade

Several of Sonoma's well known Knights Templar took part in the parade in San Francisco on Tuesday. They made a fine showing and marched the ten miles through the streets of the metropolis like veterans. Among those in line were Robt. Poppe, W. B. Corbaley and Frank M. Burris.

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

HAPPY HOOLIGAN.

Cruelty to Animals

Tuesday morning a warrant was sworn out by L. Moyer of El Verano for the arrest of L. Wallenstein, whom he charged with cruelty to animals. The accused came up from San Francisco and straightway set forth to do something to startle the country folks. He got the loan of a little donkey at El Verano and hitching it to a small candleboard drove to this place. Here he placed the rig with several signs intended to be humorous, and having tied a hat on the donkey's head invited six or eight fellows to ride with him. Wallenstein then drove the outfit through the streets, the occupants beating the little animal, unmercifully. The owner of the donkey, L. Moyer, swore out the warrant against the offender as he was about to board a train for San Francisco. He was arrested by officer Ryan, taken before Justice Small, plead guilty and was fined $5. Wallenstein now has more respect for country people than he ever had in his life before.

Cook and Waiter Have a Scrap

Ah Gee, a Chinese cook employed at the Agua Caliente Springs, had a scrap Wednesday morning with a Japanese waiter named Moremoto. The celestial cook, having heard of the fighting spirit of little Japan, grabbed a large iron spoon with which to defend himself and when Moremoto came at him he struck him a murderous blow over the head with the big spoon. The Japanese waiter received a deep gash in his head and his assailant was arrested by officer Ryan, taken before Judge Small, plead guilty to simple assault and sentenced to 20 days in the county jail, where he is now serving out his sentence.

Corner Stone Ceremonies

The laying of the corner stone of Adler's new planing mill recently commenced on Spain street was attended with befitting ceremonies. Judge Small officiated and a new $20 gold piece was placed in the corner stone and a bottle of champagne broken over it for luck by Mrs. Adler, the charming wife of the owner of the building. Those present were Judge Small, Adam Adler, R. W. Ent, W. L. Murphy and Frank Baletti.

THE BOARD OF TOWN TRUSTEES.

Accept Plans for New City
Hall, but Reject Street
Lighting Offer

The City Trustees held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday night and a full Board was present.

After the reading of the minutes and a correction in them whereby the word "telephone" was entered in the sentence "no telephone franchise will hereafter be granted by the city for less than $25," the following bills were ordered paid: H. H. Granice, printing, $10.37; L. Breitenbach, sprinkling, 93.96; Sonoma water works, 90.00; J. H. Albertson, salary, 15.00; Robt. Poppe, salary, 25.00; Howard Mumfrey, repairs, 4.75.

Total $239.68

There was considerable discussion over the street sprinkling bill and the service that is being rendered by Louis Breitenbach under a contract. Breitenbach was docked for one day, reducing his bill from $96.96 to $93.96. The day in question was a rainy one and Trustee Hotz maintained that he did not put in a day's work on that date. Considerable dissatisfaction was apparent among the Board over the sprinkling contract which makes the attempt to water our streets a great luxury.

A petition was received from C. Aguillon requesting that the city determine the boundary line between his property and the public cemetery road. After being read it was ordered filed.

A petition was also received from Mr. Aguillon asking that a dead dog be removed from his property near the depot. This was read and referred to the City Marshal with instructions to give the dog a decent burial.

Chas. Dal Pogetto also sent in a communication asking that he be granted the privilege of constructing a stone archway across the stream in front of his property on Napa street, for the purpose of extending his concrete sidewalk. Referred to Street Committee.

A proposition for lighting the streets of Sonoma was received from T. C. Ryland, who offered to furnish the city twenty-five 32 candle power lights to burn from dark until 11 p. m. and from 5 30 a. m. until daylight for $35 per month for one year.

Trustee Breitenbach opposed the proposition and voted against it, stating that he thought 16 candle power lights more practical. He rose to a point of order when the question of accepting Mr. Ryland's proposition was about to be put to vote. He declared that any contract involving over $100 would necessitate the advertising for bids.

President Poppe declared the point well taken and it was finally decided to ask Mr. Ryland to accept $35 per month from month to month.

The proposition was voted upon with the following result: Trustee Breitenbach—No. Trustee Hotz—Yes. Trustee McDowell—Yes. Trustee Pinelli—Yes. Trustee Poppe—Yes.

Mr. Ryland will be asked to accept the proposition and if he does Sonoma will have street lights this winter.

G. Mazza, a saloon keeper, was cited to appear before the Board next Monday and show cause why his license should not be revoked.

Engineer Press Davis was authorized to put in fire hydrants not to exceed in cost $10 each.

Plans for a new city hall were submitted and the plans and specifications of A. C. Lutgens, a San Francisco architect, were accepted. The building is to be a two-story stone structure with tower and tiled roof. The interior will be finished in white wood and will consist of a large fire apparatus room, a trustees' room, a library room and several offices.

It is expected that between $5000 and $6000 will be in the city treasury by November and the building of the new city hall will commence before this year is out.

THE AFTERNOON NAP.

Modern Conditions Killing the Siesta in Mexico.

There are people in Mexico City who take their afternoon nap every day, and are greatly benefited thereby, but their number appears to be growing less year by year. Whether the siesta is beneficial or not, or whether in this high altitude it is a necessity for many persons, as is claimed by some, its death knell as a general custom seems to have been sounded since the city adopted its modern enterprise and push. Many old residents will tell you of the time when a person in the city of Mexico would have been considered almost crazy if he neglected his afternoon rest, but gradually, with the advent of the railways, the street cars and the electric lights, came the inevitable sleeplessness which is one of the most noticeable characteristics of modern civilization.

There are several supporters of the siesta idea in this city who express regret that the custom appears to be passing away. These persons, who are themselves devotees of the practice, claim that it is a healthful and nerve restoring habit and that if it were indulged in systematically by the people of the United States and other progressive countries there would be fewer cases of nervous wrecks for the newspapers to report. "Early rising and a short nap after dinner" is what these people advocate, claiming that the best work of most persons is performed in the morning.—Mexican Herald.

FIRST USE OF TEA.

An Ancient Legend Ascribes It to a King of China.

By whom or when the use of tea for drinking purposes was first discovered is lost in antiquity. It is spoken of as a famous herb in Chinese literature as far back as 2,000 years B. C., at which time its cultivation and classification were almost as thorough and complete as they are today. One of the ancient legends says that its virtues were accidentally learned by King Shen Nung She, the Chinese monarch who is also known as "the divine husbandman," who, the record says, flourished four centuries ago. He was engaged in boiling water over a fire made of the branches of the tea plant and carelessly allowed some of the leaves to fall into the pot.

The liquid which he expected to come from the vessel simply as sterilized water was miraculously converted into an elixir of life by the accidental addition of the tea leaves. Soon after it became highly esteemed in all the oriental cities and was used as a royal gift from the Chinese monarchs to the potentates of southern and western Asia.

This same King Shen Nung She not only earned the title of respect by which he was known through the discovery of the virtues of tea, but because of being the first to teach his people how to make and use plants and many other implements of husbandry.

Emerson on Lincoln.

The president impressed me more favorably than I had hoped. A frank, sincere, well meaning man, with a lawyer's habit of mind, good, clear statement of his fact, correct enough, not vulgar, as described, but with a sort of boyish cheerfulness, or that kind of sincerity and jolly good meaning that our class meetings on commencement days show in telling our old stories over. When he made his remark he looks up at you with great satisfaction and shows all his white teeth and laughs. He argued to Sumner the whole case of Gordon, the slave trader, point by point, and added that he was not quite satisfied yet, and meant to refresh his memory by looking again at the evidence. All this showed a fidelity and conscientiousness very honorable to him. When I was introduced to him he said, "Oh, Mr. Emerson, I once heard you say in a lecture that a Kentuckian seems to say by his air and manners, 'Here I am, I if you don't like me, the worse for you.'—Diary of R. W. Emerson in Atlantic.

In Old Stagecoach Days.

There used to be rate wars in the old stagecoach days in England. At one time, early last century, one stagecoach company not only cut the price from Lewes to London to a very low rate, but gave also other inducements. As the coach started from Lewes at a somewhat uncomfortably early hour in the morning, by way of tidying over the difficulty the proprietors allowed the more slothful of their passengers to go overnight to Brighton, where they were accommodated with good beds free of expense and could proceed comfortably to London by the company's morning coach.

Of Two Evils Choose the Least. Doctor—If you are to recover, you must spend the next three months in traveling. Patient—But I can't afford it, doctor. Doctor—Very well, stay at home if you must, and I will visit you daily. Patient—Never mind, doctor; I think I will travel after all.

An Expensive Wedding. "The bride nearly fainted during the ceremony and had to be supported by her father until he was over." "Yes, and now I hear her father is supporting both of them."

Fooled His Stomach. Landlady—You did not wear glasses when you first came here, why do you wear them now? Patient—I want to make the food look as large as possible.

"Rush the season!" cried the man to the waiter, despatching the salt and pepper in a hurry.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

TOBACCO SALARIES.

A Custom of the American Colonies Before the Revolution.

Before the Revolution, ministers of the Anglican church in these American colonies where that church was established by law were remunerated "in kind" instead of in money. Maryland gave incumbent forty pounds of tobacco a year for every title payer in the parish, whether churchman or dissenter, white or colored. These terms were handsome enough to secure the pick of the clerical market. In Virginia the stipends represented a fixed and unvarying quantity, by weight, of the manufactured leaf. These stipends were rather liberally in quantity. In a bad year even the "sweet scented parishes" where the minister's salary was calculated on a high priced and exceptionally fragrant tobacco, yielded only about $200 a year. The parishioners sometimes refused to induce a clergyman unless he would consent to take one salary for serving two parishes. In 1758, when the price of tobacco had greatly risen, the house of burgesses passed a law fixing the cash equivalent of debts payable in tobacco at one-third of their true value, thus wiping out two-thirds of the incomes of ministers. Patrick Henry made his first fame in defending this law when a test case was brought in behalf of the injured clergyman.

A Dead Moose.

When a bull moose lies dead in the forest he looks like some strange antediluvian animal, with his square prehensile snout and horns spreading laterally, a peculiarity which he shares with the prehistoric Irish elk and the nearly extinct European elk of later times. The huge form tells of strength and swiftness, and with the still dangerous gleam of the eye, glared in its last stare, bids the hunter pause and feel almost guilty of a crime in the destruction of so much that is grand and weird, a feeling very different from the sentiment supposed to attend the slaughter of a deer. But the triumph of mastering the warlike and bravest animal in the woods by fair still hunting and by grimly sneaking to the track for many a weary mile amply atones for any regrets.—Century.

Sneak Thieves In Churches.

An old sexton was discussing the amount of stealing that is done in churches. "Sincerely a day passes," he said, "when the church is open without some distracted woman coming to me bowed down with grief because somebody has stolen her purse. There are certain contemptible thieves who prey on unsuspecting women who pray so hard that they forget to look after their pocketbooks. The thief watches until the woman is deep in prayer and then leans over, grasps the purse and sneaks out."—Philadelphia Record.

Emergency Medicines

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in case of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite with householders is city's Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn, it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by H. G. Shoults, Sonoma, Cal.

His Exercise.

"Excuse me, softly," remarked Pen-dennis curiously, "how is it you always wind up your watch immediately after dinner?" "For the benefit of my health. You see, my doctor has recommended me always to take a little exercise after dinner."

The man who trusts to luck to make him rich is generally a strong believer in bad luck by the time he is forty-five.—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

Abscess

W. H. Harrison, of Cleveland, Miss., writes, August 15, 1902: "I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the cord in my leg to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg. So one day I went to J. R. Lott's store who is now in Denver, Col. He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment. I got a 50-cent size, and it cured my leg. It is the best liniment in the world." Abscesses, with few exceptions, are indicative of constipation or debility. They may, however, result from blows or from foreign bodies introduced into the skin or flesh, such as splinters, thorns, etc. Sold by L. S. Simmons, prescription druggist, Sonoma, Cal.

Just So.

"The poor fellow went blind and crazy at the same time." "Ah, I see—out of sight, out of mind!"—Smart Set.

Thought works in silence; so does virtue. One might erect statues to silence.—Carlyle.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. John Hammett of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend Mr. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved, and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of our people."—For sale by H. G. Shoults, Sonoma, Cal.

New Britain Ceremony.

Dewarra, a ceremony of New Britain is an instance of how the spots of the chase may be turned to account as the outward and visible sign of wealth. Dewarra is made by stringing the shells of a dog which upon the ribs of palm leaves. These strings may be recalled at so much a fathom—usually the price is equivalent to about three shillings a fathom length—or they may be made into various articles of personal adornment to be worn on great occasions. In New Britain the dewarra hoarded up by a rich man is produced at his funeral and divided among his heirs in much the same kind of way as personal property is divided among us.

The Rite of the Snake.

In Val di Nosa, Italy, the serpent is a traditional terror, and the place is celebrated for a curious religious custom known as the rite of the snake. On ascension day the priest solemnly immerses a harmless water snake in a huge antique basin, dug up on Monte Brino. The mountaineers believe that by reason of this ceremony all the other snakes that infest the country will perish.—Chicago News.

Look For the Man.

"Dress and Mabel have ceased to speak as they pass by," said the girl in the tailor made costume. "Indeed," exclaimed the girl in the home made gown. "What's the man's name?"—London Tit-Bits.

Queer.

Isn't it singular how much heroism is displayed by men in the discharge of a dangerous duty and how much cowardice by those who run into danger in the pursuit of pleasure?—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Neglected Colds

Every part of the mucous membrane, the nose, throat, ears head and lungs, is subjected to disease and height from neglected colds. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is a pleasant and effective remedy. 25c. Dr. W. A. Kendrick, Valley Mills, Tex., writes, "I have used Ballard's Horehound Syrup for coughs and throat troubles. It is a pleasant and most effective remedy." Sold by L. S. Simmons, prescription druggist, Sonoma, Cal.

Came In Handy.

"The weather man said it would rain today, and I'm glad I carried my umbrella." "Why, it didn't rain at all today." "Of course it didn't, but I met the weather man on the street, and I used the umbrella to bang him good and hard."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Quite Probable.

Plump cheeks, flushed with the soft glow of health and a pure complexion, make all women beautiful.
